Special Eco Edition

Our Eco-School Committee is very proud to have achieved the Bronze Award for Battle Primary School. Watch out for the logo on the school website and our letterhead. We have agreed on an action plan for the school and have had discussions in our classrooms with our peers and teachers about what we can do to make our school eco friendly: we will promote all kinds of recycling, watch out for dripping taps and encourage everyone to save electricity and paper. We hope to have an eco-school day one day next term with lots of fun activities, as well as fund raising events to help with our project. Let's go for the silver award!

The 'Reading in Bloom' judges came to inspect our school garden on Wednesday. We will hear if we have won an award at the beginning of next term.

A BIG THANK YOU to all in the Nursery and the Garden Club for all your hard work. The plants and displays look beautiful and have really brightened up the school playground.

Battle Primary School has been selected to take part in a Solar Schools pilot project, starting in the September term.

The project will be co-ordinated by the carbon cutting initiative 10:10, in partnership with Reading Borough Council, Mumsnet and the Reading Post. The project provides a new way for schools like ours to fundraise the cost of solar panels and get pupils excited about energy saving.

There will be an official launch by 10:10 and the School in September but for the moment we are looking for parents and carers who would like to play a more active role in the project to get in touch. 10:10 will be holding a meeting in September about kick-starting the project. We would like as many people as possible to be involved.

This is a great opportunity for the school to take part in something really exciting that could have a lasting impact and we would love your support.

If you have any questions or want to find out how to get involved you can contact Amy from 10:10 at amy@1010uk.org or Jenny Allen, Parent Governor via the school office or directly at jenjallen@gmail.com.

We hope you have enjoyed this special EC edition of the newsletter and hope you have a lovely summer. We look forward to seeing you back at school on Tuesday 6th September 2011.
